

Why Should Delegates Attend?

Expo is inclusive and invite ALL who are in the domain of Project Controls. We expect employers, professional bodies, academic institutions, government and of course most importantly practicing Project Controls professionals to come together in recognition of the contribution we make as a profession. Even if you are not a Project Controls practitioner but aspire to become one, then this event is not to be missed. Here are main reasons why:

- Networking

Network with like minded Project Controls peers.

- Learning

Find out the latest advancement via Master class sessions and workshops

- Product updates

Meet the technology leaders to find out the latest happenings with tools for Project Controls

- Career advancement

Advance/Plan your career by exploring current/future Project Controls opportunities from Employers.

In addition to above some other compelling reasons are -

- Spend time with some of the top Project Controls Consultants & Managers and get direct answers to your difficult questions.
- Chat to colleagues and share ideas in order to solve common problems.
- Get the inside track on future trends in Project Controls & Management.
- Get new ideas for applying the softer skills required for people management (which is an integral part of Project Controls).
- Understand practical ways to apply Project Controls
- Get the right information you need to review your options on project, programme, cost and risk management
- Understand how to bring various Project Controls theories into practice.
- Find out more about existing and new Project Controls Maturity Models and why you need them in your organisation
- Gain insights into how to tackle Project Controls Practitioners profiling.
- Compare and contrast solutions offered by a wide range of Project Controls Services Suppliers.
- Find out about new & existing Project Controls qualifications.
- Meet many of the UK's leading training and consulting organisations and quiz them about your project controls requirements/needs.

Who should attend ?

The following people will gain most value from attending:

- Project Controls Engineers
- Planners
- Schedulers
- Cost Estimators & Engineers
- Planning Engineers
- ALL professionals who are looking forward to enter into the world of Project Controls or Project Management.
- Tendering managers
- Project Leaders / Directors / Managers
- Programme Directors / Managers
- Operations Directors / Managers
- Business Consultant
- Change Management Expert
- Resource Managers / Directors
- Risk Engineers / Managers
- Delay Claims Analyst
- Project Engineers
- Project Development Engineers
- Project Managers

Whatever your level of experience and area of project expertise, whether managing, implementing or planning, the Project Controls Expo is the best place for it. The Project Controls Expo aims to help you to significantly improve your Project performance and help you manage projects, programmes, process, cost and resource more effectively. The scope and focus of the event is to involve you, the participant, as much as possible to create a “Learning Environment”. All recent research within the area of conference design indicates that people do not learn just because they are given information. Dialogue, interaction and active participation are all elements that enhance the learning process. At the Project Controls Expo, you will have the opportunity to choose from many different sessions. With so many different sessions to choose from throughout the day, you are certain to find the right sessions for you.

If you are looking for a new role or career opportunity, Project Controls Expo is THE place. Expo's partners will be featuring Permanent, Contract-to-hire, Contract, and Part-time roles not just for the UK but for global locations. Whether your needs are to work virtually, office based, offshore, or overseas, this is a great opportunity to find those positions!